

EXPEDITIONS to the Mt. EVEREST reveals an interesting pattern in Everest expeditions. Spring stands out as the most successful season for reaching the peak.

Out of 462 expeditions, 355 were successful, resulting in an impressive success rate of nearly 77%.

Fall is another popular season for attempting the climb.

Among the 394 expeditions during this period, 262 reached the peak, yielding a success rate of approximately 66%.

Season — Spring — Fall — Summer & Winter — Failure